In 160 conversations, both twins lean toward liking the link when it is on, and mostly no more with their partner than with a stranger