During the warm-up, values never seen in training become probable with the real partner and remain improbable with a partner from another episode