Linked rather than cut, the twins mostly say they feel happier and closer, but never more with their partner than with a stranger